Prioris generis eae sunt, quibus Montefalconius suum “ $\Delta\lambda\lambda.$ ” praefixit, ut tamen hic illie “ $\Delta\lambda\lambda.$ ” non marginalem, sed textualem codicis scripturam, a contextu Ed. Rom. decadentem, indicet. Idem in locum sigli σ “ $O.\ \ddot{\Delta}\lambda\lambda\omega\sigma$ ”

substituit; pro ὁ θ̄ autem nunc “Θ. Ο. ἀλλως,” nunc “Ο. Θ.” tantum exhibet, ut tamen in posteriore eventu nota “Ο. ἀλλως” lectioni Ed. Rom. praefigatur. Nos quidem in hoc codice tractando eam nobis legem imposuimus, ut lectiones anonymas per “Alia exempl.” indicemus, sigla autem ὁ et θ̄ cum “Aliter: Ο.” et “Aliter: Ο'. Θ.” commutemus. Ubi autem lectiones trium interpretum manifestae in margine codicis sine nominibus allatae sunt (e. g. Cap. i. 22), eis quidem nos quoque cum antecessore nostro “Ἄλλος” praemisimus. Quod reliquum est, praeter excerpta Montefalconiana et schedas Bodleianas (quas per favorem Curatorum domi habere nobis contigit) est ubi ad dissensum horum duorum testium componendum arbitrum appellavimus Virum humanissimum Josephum Cozzam, qui lectiones vexatas ad codicem exigere non dedignatus est.

Esc. Codex Escurialensis T. III. 5, cuius varias lectiones a Moldenhawero excerptas se adhibere non potuisse dolet Parsonsius; eas autem fere integras inter schedas Moldenhaweri in Bibliotheca Regia Havniensi asservatas deprehendit, et passim in notis ad librum mox memorandum laudavit Doctor T. Skat Rördam. Hujus libri fere peculiaris est usus praepositionis σὺν pro particula ΓΝ (e. g. σὺν τὸν Χαναβαῖον (i. 4, 17), σὺν τῇ Βάσι (ii. 11), σὺν τὰ ἔθνη (ii. 23), etc.), quem usum in versionem suam editionis Syro-hex. Graecam pro Syriaco dubitanter invexit Vir doctissimus.

Vet. Lat. Fragmenta interpretationis veteris Latinae, vulgo Italae, quae post Sabatieri curas paulo auctiora edidit O. F. Fritzsche ad calcem libelli, qui mox venit describendus.

Versionem librorum Judicum et Ruth Syro-hexaplarem e Codice Musei Britannici signato “Addit. MSS. 17,103,” foll. 4–70, edidit, Graecam fecit, notisque criticis illustravit Doctor T. Skat Rördam, Havniae, 1861, praemissa (pp. 1–60) Dissertatione de Regulis Grammaticis, quas secutus est Paulus Tellensis in Veteri Testamento ex Graeco Syriace vertendo. Codex est saeculi VIII, charactere Estranghelo nitido exaratus, et continet libros Judicum et Ruth integros, excepto prioris Cap. i. 22–32. Cf. Wright Catalogue of Syriac MSS. in the British Museum, Part I, pp. 32, 33. In ipso contextu saepissime picta sunt signa, quae ad scholia aut alias versiones in margine adscribendas lectorem relegent; quae tamen lectiones marginales, magno operis nostri detrimento, omnino desunt. In obelis (— et ∞), asteriscis et metobelis ponendis, scriba, ut in talibus accidere solet, negligentissime versatus est, quas notas in integrum restituendas suscepit Rördam, ita tamen ut dum novum signum (⋮), quod lem-niscum vulgo vocant, loco obeli aut asterisci in textum introducit, a via disquirendi rem criticam Origenis historica, quam contra Middeldorpium recte asserit, ipse non leviter deflexisse videatur. Alias minoris momenti maculas ex ipso codice a se retractato cum nobis benevole communicavit Ceriani noster (quarum specimen jam dederat in opusculo suo, Le Edizione e i Manoscritti delle Versione Siriache del V. T., Mediolani, 1869, p. 21), non ut de laudibus editoris Danici vel hilum detrahatur, sed ut nostrum opus, quod semper summo favore et studio prosecutus est, quam perfectissimum et, quod ad suas partes attinet, maculis immune reddat.

Bar Hebraei Scholia integra in Carmen Deboraee e Codice Bodleiano edidit et notis illustravit Joannes Mauritus Winklerus, Vratislaviae, 1839; accuratius autem e Cod. Vaticano aliisque Doctor R. Schroeter in Zeitschrift der Deutschen-morgenl. Gesellschaft, Tom. XXIV, pp. 509, 557. Quod vero ad lectiones trium interpretum attinet, plus nobis adjumenti attulerunt Ceriani nostri excerpta ex iisdem scholiis in totum Judicum librum, e Cod. Mus. Brit. "Addit. MSS. 7186" ab eo descripta, necdum publici juris facta.

Duas libri Judicum versiones, vel saltem editiones, plurimum inter se discrepantes, Vaticano et Alexandrino exemplari contineri, certis indicis patefecit Grabius in Epistola ad Millium, Oxon. 1705; qua ostenditur, ut ipsius verbis utamur, genuinam LXX interpretum versionem eam esse, quam Codex Alexandrinus exhibit; Romanam autem editionem, quod ad dictum librum, ab illa prorsus diversam, atque eandem cum Hesychiana esse. Probatio-nes ejus in medium proferre non hujus est loci: tantum monebimus, priorem propositionem, modo genuinam intelligas (quae ipsius Grabii sententia est) eam quam Origenes in Hexaplis exhibuit, negari non posse; alteram vero, scilicet Romanam editionem Alexandrina aetate inferiorem, et ab Hesychio vel quovis alio ex instituto mutatam esse, a rei veritate quam longissime aberrare. Aliam viam insistit Otto Fridolinus Fritzsche in Prolegomenis libelli, cui titulus: Liber Judicum secundum LXX interpretes. Triplicem textus conformatio-nem recensuit, lectionis varietates enotavit, interpretationis veteris Latinae fragmenta edidit O. F. F., Turici, 1867. Ad triplicem illam conformatio-nem pertinent I. Textus receptus, qui et ceteris antiquior et sincerior, licet multis mendis turpatus, in quo recensendo imprimis horum codicum ratio habenda est: Codd. II, 16, 57, 77, 85 (in textu), 131, 144, 209, 236, 237. II. Editio, quam kouv̄n fuisse existimat V. D., a priore, sed ea recognita et veritati Hebraicae magis adaptata, derivata, interdum e Theodotionis versione emenda; quae textus conformatio in his maxime libris legitur: Codd. III, IV, X, XI, 18, 19, 29, 30, 64, 71, 108, 121; necnon in Complutensi, Vetere Latino, et versione Syro-hexaplari; e quibus arctiore quodam vinculo inter se necti sunt Codd. X, XI, 29, 71, 121, et Comp., Codd. 19, 108. III. Tertiam textus recensionem, quae secundae emendatio est, hi maxime libri nobis servarunt: Codd. 44, 54, 59, 75, 76, 84, 106, 128, 134, et Lipsiensis, cuius fragmenta (Cap. xi. 24–34, xviii. 2–20) edidit Tischendorfius in Monumentorum Sacr. Ined. Collectione Nova, Tom. I, Lipsiae, 1855. Hanc tertiam recensionem (si pro textus LXXviralis recensione, et non potius ignoti cuiusdam interpretis versione habenda est) eam esse quae sub Luciani nomine celebratur, ut sine probatio-nibus, sed satis confidenter asserit V. D., quasi rem prorsus obscuram et incertam in medium relinquimus. Quod vero de textu, qui in Codd. II, 16, aliis legitur, idem affirmat, eum utpote antiquum et genuinum Origenem merito codici suo hexaplari inseruisse, hoc quidem legentes non tam miramur quam obstupescimus. Ecquis scilicet, cui exemplar Graecum Saravianum et Pauli Telensis versionem Syriacam manu versare et inter se conferre contigerit, se ipsissimum opus Origenianum ante oculos habere subdubitarit? Hos autem duos testes ad Alexandrinam quam vocant textus recensionem, non ad Vaticanam pertinere, tum per se evidentissimum est, tum ipsum Criticum nostrum jam confitentem, vel potius affirmantem, habuimus.
